DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1, lines 1 and 2 do not clearly describe the die bonder arrangement. Substitution of --base, piece by piece, dies—in place of “base piece by piece, the dies” would provide a clearer description.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over USPN 6,830,990 to Honer et al in view of JP2002205180 and in view of USPN 5,354,695 to Leedy. With respect to claim 1, Honer et al disclose the well known dicing apparatus comprising an expanding tape. Honer et al disclose dicing, but do not disclose laser dicing. Laser dicing is well known as disclosed by JP2002205180. The substitution of the laser dicing device in place of the saw device disclosed by Honer et al would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because laser die cutting is well known and because the laser provides a clean cut without producing sawing debris. Combination of both dicing and bonding in a single apparatus is well known as disclosed, for example, by Leedy who describes (DETX 259) "wafer is cut into dice in the manner which is present practice, a pick and place bonding tool can pick up the die with slight vacuum pressure, align it over the substrate onto which it is to be bonded and bond it to the substrate." The use of both dicing and bonding in a single apparatus arrangement is very well known. With respect to claims 2-6, the intended use of the apparatus claims for particular marking of product type or for particular dividing of all dies does not impart patentability to the apparatus claims.
